

Aglow women have embraced a unique call to pray for their families, their communities, their nations, and the nations of the world. It is part of our kingdom call.

Prayer has always been a significant part of our network of caring women as we have learned to pray beyond our own needs and link our hearts in prayer for women around the world.

Women of every nation are called to prayer — to build their nation's "wall" in this House of Prayer. For God has called us to "...make a wall, and stand in the gap before [Him] on behalf of the land" (Ezekiel 22:30), — a wall of His presence as women of prayer.

Aglow's Vision for Prayer

Aglow women around the world are women of prayer. We have learned that if we pray, God will heal our land (2 Chronicles 7:14). We urge each Aglow woman to commit to pray for her "land," that is, her family, neighbors, co-workers, community, and her nation. Through a commitment to prayer, Aglow women are building a spiritual house, a global house of prayer for all nations, in order to see God's blessing on the people of the earth and their destinies fulfilled.

The Global House of Prayer

"For My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations."

Isaiah 56:7b

"...you also, as living stones, are being built up a spiritual house..."

1 Peter 2:5a

Called For Such a Time as This

As we consider the escalation in world crises, we realize that, for such a time as this, God has raised up Aglow as a Global House of Prayer.

It seems that more than ever before we are called to unite ourselves as praying women around the world.

Jesus quoted, "My house shall be called a house of prayer," at His most crucial hour, just before His death and resurrection.

And now, at this crucial hour for the world and for the Church, He has knit our hearts together and joined our hearts with His to pray, "Your Kingdom come and Your will be done in all the earth as it already is in Heaven."

An Unfolding Vision

From Nancy McDaniel,
Prayer Director

"In 1996, when Aglow established the International House of Prayer in Edmonds, Washington, I had a vision of a map of the world with tiny replicas of the International House of Prayer multiplying across the globe.

"As their numbers increased, they melded together as a mosaic to form a single House of Prayer encompassing the whole world.

"Today God has unfolded Aglow's vision for a House of Prayer to encompass a spiritual house covering the earth. Aglow women around the world have joined together in this global house, '...as living stones, ...being built up a spiritual house' (1 Peter 2:5)."

Called to Unite

Aglow women in nearly 170 nations are called to unite their hearts and voices in prayer.

This Global House of Prayer has become a source of spiritual strength throughout the world as we, "...come boldly to the throne of grace" (Heb 4:16a).

This house is a functional communication network and an arena for many kinds of ministry...

- Finding communion with God
- Nurturing the purposes of God's kingdom
- Restoring women and releasing them in ministry
- Building and healing relationships
- Cultivating godly homes and marriages
- Mentoring each generation
- Breaking ground for evangelism thrusts
- Declaring peace and security in a world of turmoil
